

Five New Crosswind Simulators Enter Production

April 11, 2008

It has been an exciting year for Xwind. With the worldwide interest in our unique simulator, we are building five new crosswind simulators right away. One will be shipping overseas. Two of these units are still available for sale as of this writing.

All units will be complete and ready for immediate delivery by late May, 2008.

Just give us a call to reserve one of the available simulators for you.
